

May 2, 2007

Two District 16 elementary students' posters to be entered in National School Bus Safety Poster Contest

Chloe Kirks, left, and Deven Sunell, right, are state winners who will represent their schools and school district in a national bus safety poster contest.

School District 16 transportation coordinator Cindy McKay proudly announced that two elementary students will represent the school district in the National School Bus Safety Poster Contest.

Chloe Kirks, kindergarten, Park Terrace Elementary, and Deven Sunell, 4th grade, Westwood Intermediate, were both grade-level and state-level winners for their fine school bus safety posters this spring. Their posters will be entered in the national competition in the fall. Students in District 16 and across the country were given the assignment to create a bus safety poster utilizing the theme "Stop on red, kids ahead." The state contest was sponsored by the Minnesota Association for Pupil Transportation.

The district's other grade-level poster contest winners are: Delaney Herman, 1st grade, Park Terrace Elementary (far right); and Robert Dodge, 2nd grade, Kenneth Hall Elementary; Shawna Vang, 5th grade, Westwood Intermediate and Mason Owens, 3rd grade, Kenneth Hall Elementary; and. (Below, left to right.)

